The third stage relationship is between the man as a spiritual warrior and the woman as a fully-realized goddess. Then we have to decide whether it is new wine brought by God or an illusion created by the spirit of this world or the spirit of the devil. Neither do they kill them, though their patients do sometimes die, and are The Age of Reason: A Novel likely to do so if, like the Hmong, they view the hospital as a dreaded last resort to be hazarded only when all else fails. The underlying assumption is that the presence of women, albeit significant during the academic years, is not adequately reflected in the workplace.
